

Will Today's MTS Infrastructure Investments Meet the Needs of Tomorrow?

Virtual Webinar, Tuesday, May 17, 2022
2:00PM—3:30PM EDT

The American Association of Port Authorities (AAPA) and the U.S. Committee on the Marine Transportation System (CMTS) are proud to present this distinguished panel highlighting the importance of today's historic and generational investments in the infrastructure of the Marine Transportation System. Panelists will discuss how funding provided for MTS infrastructure in recent legislation, such as the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, will support the needs of the U.S. MTS into the future.

Panel held in conjunction with United for Infrastructure—#LeadWithInfrastructure

Infrastructure Week (May 16-20, 2022) is a collaborative effort by businesses, civic groups, organizations, and other infrastructure stakeholders to bring awareness to the importance of infrastructure in our nation. Through events, advocacy, webinars, and social media taking place around the country, participants will bring attention to infrastructure. Infrastructure Week is the largest, most diverse, non-partisan coalition of organizations dedicated to strengthening America by rebuilding our infrastructure. See how you can be involved at <http://infrastructureweek.org>.
