To the President of the Texas Fire Chiefs Association,

In the calendar year 2024, the Center for Public Safety Excellence (CPSE) accredited 63 agencies and designated 688 new officers. The CPSE model of continuous improvement exists to engage agencies and emergency services professionals in a collaborative, meaningful way in which they learn from, and actively communicate with, their peers across the globe. This community thrives upon open dialogue, education, and the sharing of best practices, lessons learned, and problems solved.

As the CPSE Community Experience Manager, it is my pleasure to present to you those agencies and newly designated officers from the state of Texas. As you prepare for annual recognition of your members and/or conference, we ask that you consider recognizing those departments and individuals in your state for their achievements.

The accreditation model is an all-hazard, quality improvement model based on risk analysis and self-assessment that promotes the establishment of community-adopted performance targets for fire and emergency service agencies. The designation model is a career enhancement and development model that recognizes professional accomplishments and technical competence of fire and emergency service officers.
